

RADIO PRESENTING

Get ready to immerse yourself in a captivating, fast-paced communications career like no other. Our exclusive Radio Presenting training is your gateway to a world of endless possibilities, blending distance learning, online education, and in-studio recording experiences.

At the heart of this transformative course lies our three key focus areas: Voice-training, Newsreading, and the Art of Interviewing. You'll be guided by seasoned radio journalists during your studio days, while a qualified sound engineer ensures your brilliance is captured on a professional sound desk.

But that's not all. Our course also covers the world of Podcasting, opening doors for both studio and office/home-based microphone careers.

We set our sights on honing the essential skills that a Radio Presenter truly needs. With our structured ten-module course, eight of which are self-taught or accessed through distance learning, and two in-studio modules, you'll be primed for success.

Located in the vibrant city of Dublin, Ireland, our cutting-edge studios await your arrival. On your studio days, you'll don the headphones, take control of the microphones, conduct captivating interviews, and get comfortable with the sound of your own voice. You'll feel the energy of a real radio environment as you unveil your true strengths.
